

Two Calls For Total Of Sixty More Made

Selective Service
Already Summons
140 For July

Pettis County's call for men through the Selective Service Act has already reached a total for July of 140 men, with the receiving of two calls Saturday morning each for thirty white men. The two calls received Saturday by the local board brings the number to four with a possibility of more being received before the month is out.

The first call received for July was for 20 Negroes to be inducted on July 2, the second call was received the past week for 60 white men to be inducted on July 13. The Negroes will go to Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

To Jefferson Barracks

White inductees will go to Jefferson Barracks, on all three calls.

The first thirty will leave the morning of July 22 and the second thirty will depart on the morning of July 23. They leave Sedalia via Missouri Pacific bus at 11:05 o'clock in the morning.

Saturday morning the local board held a meeting in the Selective Service office in the court house at which time they heard the appeals of several selectees for deferment, and also reclassified a large number of others.

Names of the July men to be inducted will be published this week.

Lightning Kills Fortuna Youth

Norman Sinclair, aged 19 years, was instantly killed at 9:30 o'clock Saturday morning, and his brother, Lloyd, about 17 years old, was severely burned by a bolt of lightning that struck them while they were at work cleaning a hen house. The fatal accident was at their home, two and a half miles southeast of Fortuna.

The father of the boys, Everett Sinclair, who was working with them, was uninjured.

When struck Norman Sinclair was using a spray device.

He is survived by his father, Everett Sinclair, two sisters and two brothers, Miss Wilma, Lloyd, Earl and Miss Pauline Sinclair. Arrangements for the funeral had not been perfected Saturday afternoon.

The body was taken to the Kidwell funeral parlor in Versailles.

Convention Of T.P.A. To Sedalia

Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Eickhoff have just returned from St. Louis where they attended the 52nd annual convention of the Travelers Protective Association.

There were approximately 600 delegates and guests in attendance from 33 state divisions. The business sessions were instructive, and entertainment features were climaxed with an evening at the Municipal Opera to see the production, "Sally."

For the first time in 52 years the Missouri division was second in new members written during the year. Texas took first place the past fiscal year.

Allentown, Pa., received the unanimous vote of the delegates as the place to hold the 1943 convention, conditions permitting the holding of a convention.

The T.P.A. state convention will be held in Sedalia in May, 1943.

Large Amount Of Scrap Rubber

Rubber of all descriptions and from a variety of articles that covers many uses that had reached the scrap stage is being turned in at service stations here and throughout the country in large quantities. The chief turn-in is in old automobile tires, while tubes are likewise numerous.

Elastics used in wearables are also included in the lot and the scrap rubber heaps continue to grow steadily.

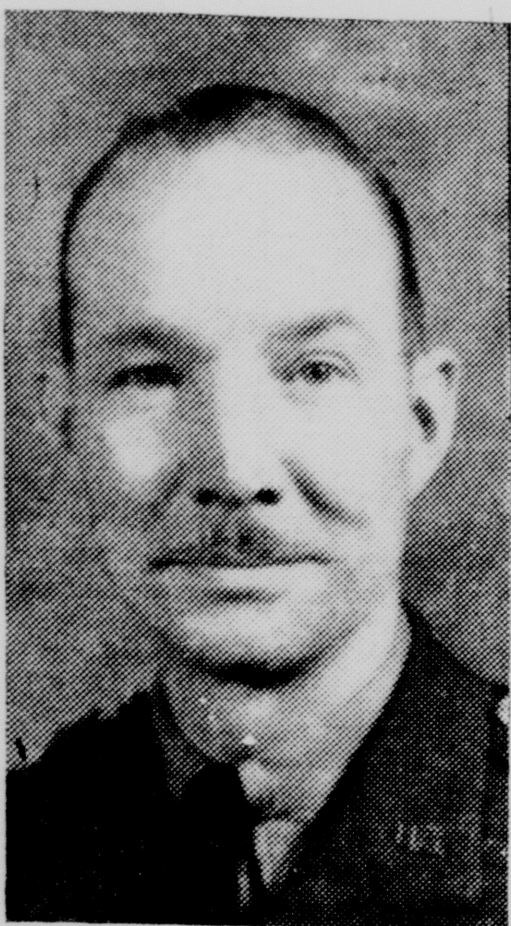

Saturday a total of 74,640 pounds collected was reported to the Pettis County Council of Defense salvage committee.

The collection campaign has two days over a week more to run and persons possessing scrap rubber that is not needed by them are urged to take it to their nearest filling station and add it to the rubber that will help in winning of the war.

Buffet Supper For Symphony And Board

Members of the Sedalia Symphony orchestra and the symphony board enjoyed a buffet supper at Bothwell lodge last Monday night, as guest of Mrs. Lee Montgomery. Games were played during the evening after the 7 o'clock supper.

Lieutenant Colonel

John C. McLaughlin, Sedalia, who has just been promoted in the U. S. army to a Lieutenant Colonel from Major to which rank he was advanced since called to service.

Major J. C. McLaughlin Is Promoted

Is Now Lieutenant Colonel In U. S. Army Service

Major John C. McLaughlin, son of Mrs. Charles P. Keck, R. F. D. No. 3, has received his second promotion in the United States Army since leaving Sedalia with the 128th Field Artillery, Missouri National Guards, in December of 1940. He is now a Lieutenant Colonel, having received his leaves the past week, according to information received by his mother.

Lieutenant Colonel McLaughlin when he left Sedalia with the Guards to be inducted into federal service was a Captain on the Regimental Staff. Then in the summer of 1941 he attended the Command and Staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, after which he received his promotion to a Major.

Early this year he attended the Advance School of Fire at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, from which he graduated with honors. He attended the Basic School of Fire at Fort Sill about three years ago and returned home with an exceptional high rating.

Early Military Training

Army has been one of Lieutenant Colonel McLaughlin's "first loves." At the age of fourteen he attended Staunton Military Academy at Staunton, Va., and in his senior year at the school was Honor Captain. He then returned to Missouri to attend the University of Missouri. At the university he continued his military training in the R. O. T. C. and was colonel of his regiment.

Upon graduating from the university he returned home to affiliate with McLaughlin Brothers Furniture Co., and at the same time took and interest in the Field Artillery of the Missouri National Guards located in Sedalia and was a Lieutenant. Later he went to Boonville and resigned his commission in Sedalia but became a member of the Boonville Battery and was commissioned. Later he returned to Sedalia and again became affiliated with the local units, and worked his way up until he held a Captaincy on the staff.

Entry Into Service

It was while he was in Sedalia that he went to Fort Sill to study the Basic Course in the School of Fire. Later in that year of 1940 he attended the annual National Guard encampment in Minnesota, and a few months later went into the federal service, going to Fort Jackson, S. C., and several months ago was transferred to Camp Blanding, Florida, with the local batteries.

Colonel McLaughlin has since been transferred to the 17th Field Artillery, a regular army unit, and since his transfer has received his promotion.

He still holds the office of president of the McLaughlin Furniture company in Sedalia. He is a brother of Philip McLaughlin secretary - treasurer with that firm.

Mrs. McLaughlin and their two children Robert McLaughlin and Margie Lou are with Colonel McLaughlin in Florida and are staying in St. Augustine, Florida, a short distance from the camp.

Bishop Spencer To Be At Morning Service

Bishop Robert Nelson Spencer, of Kansas City, will give the sermon at the Calvary Episcopal church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning instead of Sunday afternoon as was previously announced.

Marriage License Issued

Robert Kent Nichols and Eva Lee Morris, both of Sedalia.

Japanese Boy Is Killed In An Auto Accident

Robert Berry Is Injured In Crash West Of Dresden

One Japanese is dead and one white boy is in a serious condition suffering from injuries received in an automobile and truck sideswipe accident two and eight tenths miles west of Dresden on highway 50, about 12:10 o'clock Saturday morning. The dead boy is Hiroshi George Inabu, 19 years old, of Pleasant Hill, and the injured boy is Robert Berry, 16, also of Pleasant Hill.

Two other Japanese, George Hontani, 21, of Pleasant Hill, and Tommy Nakayama, Clinton, and another white boy Walter Duke, 17, of Pleasant Hill all riding with Inabu escaped injury other than a few minor bruises. Luther Gilliam, Clinton, Arkansas, driver of the truck escaped with nothing more than a bruised left knee.

Saturday afternoon a coroner's jury which heard evidence in the fatal accident returned a verdict. "The deceased, George H. Inabu, driver of the sedan, died from injuries received when his car and a truck sideswiped in an unavoidable accident." The jury was composed of Kemp Hieronymus, Joe Weaver, A. L. Wilson, Hale Hull, Granville Potter, and H. S. Knight.

Dr. W. T. Bishop, coroner, and Prosecuting Attorney Job Harned conducted the questioning.

Those who testified were Sergeant P. E. Corl of the State Highway Patrol, Sheriff Ross Bothwell, Deputy Archie Smith, Hontani, Nakayama, Duke, Gilliam, Walter Smith, the latter driver of a truck which followed Gilliam, and D. Kelly Scruton.

Truck Loaded With Timber
The truck a Chevrolet tractor type with a two-wheel wheel trailer was loaded with rough timber of 4 x 6, 12, 14, 16 and 20 feet long. It was being driven to Kansas City. Gilliam said he said the car approaching from the west but it was not until it was about ten yards ahead of him did he feel that the accident was going to happen. He said he tried to pull to the right but it was too late to get far enough on the shoulder to let the Buick car pass.

The sedan, it appeared, struck the front part of the timber on the right side crashed into the rear dual wheels on the truck knocking them completely loose from the truck. The truck then swerved sideways, skidded on the pavement several feet then rolled over. Gilliam said he believed it went over twice and stopped upright. The sedan skidded sideways down the highway coming to a stop on the south half of the pavement.

Duke said he got out of the car on the far side and ran around to find his friend, Berry, hanging part way out of the car with his head bleeding. He tried to carry the boy up the highway, but was too weak to get him far. Other boys pulled Inabu out of the car and laid him on the pavement beside the car. He apparently was breathing, but before the ambulance arrived he had passed away.

Berry was rushed to the Bothwell hospital in the McLaughlin ambulance where Dr. J. E. Mitter was on duty. (Please Turn to Page 4, Column 7)

Stronger Combat On Axis Subs

By The Associated Press

The Maritime Commission asserted yesterday (Saturday) that arming of America's merchant ships would be completed in "a few months," at the same time that the Nazi acknowledged that the allies had "strongly increased" their defenses along United States Gulf and Atlantic coasts.

Meanwhile, however, torpedoes from enemy submarines sank two more small merchant vessels — A U. S. ship in the Caribbean and a Nicaraguan ship—each sinking bringing loss of life. The navy announced.

This increased the announced loss of cargo carriers of the United Nations and neutral countries since Pearl Harbor to 28 per cent.

On the comforting side was a State Department announcement that an agreement had been reached by which Cuba "offered facilities to the United States War Department for training aviation personnel and for operations against enemy undersea craft . . . work on these installations will begin at once."

The Maritime Commission said cargo ships of America were being equipped with the newest type of weapons to fight off submarine and air attacks.

"It can be said," the commission declared, "that officers and seamen are protected to the greatest degree possible against machine gunning by enemy planes."

Allege Attack At Air Base

Following the beating of an employee at the Sedalia Air Base located south of Knob Noster, Sheriff Francis Berkey who was called arrested a man who gave the name of Jesse F. Davis and took him to the Johnson county jail for investigation. Sheriff Berkey said a charge of assault would probably be filed against the man.

The victim of the alleged assault was Glen Bradford of Jackson county. He received a fracture of the right rib, severe injury to the left eye, several broken teeth and body bruises.

According to Sheriff Berkey, Bradford was working on the shift which went off duty at 11 o'clock, and Davis was supposed to have gone to work on the following shift. Davis, it was reported, went to the base apparently to prepare to go to work and suddenly attacked Bradford.

Davis' home is said to be in Pangburn, Arkansas.

Young Sedalian On Lexington From Flaming Ship To Rescue Destroyer

Willard Wilson Chewing Smiles— Sorry He Was Not In Midway Battle

Granted leave he arrives home to visit relatives but even after harrowing experience is ready and willing to return to active duty, and would like to be on new Lexington.

"There was a big blaze of fire and then she disappeared." Willard Wilson Chewing, 20, of Sedalia, related Saturday in describing the hero's death of his ship, the U. S. aircraft carrier Lexington, which went to its grave with colors flying after the great Coral Sea battle of May 8.

Chewing, seaman second class, is a son of Mrs. Mattie Chewing, 1706 East Fourth street. He enlisted in the navy the day after the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor and took his oath in St. Louis December 16. From then on life has been full of excitement, and his only injuries have been two smashed fingers. However, three of his best friends, were killed in action in the spectacular naval episode of the Coral Sea, in which the U. S. scored an impressive victory.

One of Willard Chewing's regrets is that he didn't get in on the battle at Midway.

Internal Explosions

His last view of the Lexington was about 7:40 o'clock the evening of May 8 as he stood on the deck of a destroyer 20 miles away. When all hands were ordered off the aircraft carrier as internal explosions shook her, Chewing slid down a ladder onto the destroyer which had pulled alongside. But before he went off, he

British In Pledge Of A Second Front

Quickly Kill Proposals Of A Sales Tax

Committee For Collecting Tax From Paychecks

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—The House ways and means committee quickly killed sales tax proposals today, and then adopted a formula for collecting a part of each employed individual's income taxes from his regular paychecks beginning in January.

With the decisions, the committee virtually completed a tentative draft of new tax legislation intended to add at least $6,640,000,000 to federal revenue. Final action sending the bill to the House is expected to be taken next week.

The Treasury had asked for $8,700,000, which Secretary Morgenthau said was the least that Congress should raise. Advocates of a sales tax had argued that a 5 per cent retail sales levy, with government and state purchases exempted, would produce $2,500,000,000.

At the end of a two-hour committee meeting today, Chairman Doughton (D-NC) announced that a sales tax would not be considered in this bill, and members assumed that the subject would not come up again for many months, if at all. The vote against a sales tax was not announced but was reported to have been 13 to 8 with two proxies cast.

By a 10 to 9 vote, the committee agreed tentatively to the pay-as-you-go system of collecting individual income taxes. It is designed to complete in two years a shift from the current system of paying one year's taxes the next year to a program of paying at least part of current taxes out of current income.

Squadron Downs Fourteen Planes

By WALTER B. CLAUSEN

PEARL HARBOR, June 20.—(AP)—"Go get 'em" McCuskey wanted to be a lawyer and still plans to be one.

Meantime, he has acquired the Navy's Distinguished Flying Cross for saving his aircraft carrier from attack by shooting down a Jap bomber.

He also shares credit with three other fighter pilots for having strafed and probably sunk a Japanese destroyer by machinegun fire, and in evidence of still further achievements, seven painted rising sun flags decorate the sides of his combat plane.

The would-be attorney is Lieut. E. Scott McCuskey, 27, son of Mrs. Rosamond Jane McCuskey of Stuttgart, Ark. Today he was permitted to tell part of his story.

"I'd rather talk about my squadron," he said. "It's the fighting squadron in the fleet. Our score of Jap planes shot down is 44, and have lost only four pilots."

"I can't give the names of all our squadron, because that would be supplying their identification to the enemy. But I can say that my wingman, Johnny G. Adams, of Hiawatha, Kas., got three planes; Lieut. Art J. Brasfield, a Browning, Mo., school-teacher, got seven; Lieut. Walter Hass, Collinswood, N. J., druggist, got six; Lieut. William Woolen of Chapel Hill, N. C., got four; Lieut. Richard Cromwell, Montgomery, Ala., four, and Ensign Harry Bonaparte Gibbs of Wheeling, W. Va., two."

Made As Churchill And Roosevelt Discuss Moves

Smacking The Jap Invaders At Islands

Crack Down On Them In Every Rift Of Fog Banks

SEATTLE, June 20.—(AP)—Japanese invaders of isolated Aleutian Island points are "getting smacked whenever there is a rift in the fog banks," a 13th Naval District spokesman said today.

He declared the "so-called mystery of the Aleutian battle is merely a mystery of weather, of fog and snow, coupled with a desire to keep the enemy in the dark."

He said: "If the public is confused about the situation in western Alaska, then so is the enemy—and that is all to the good. You can't make a statement about a battle until the battle is decided. As usual King has told the American people, the battle for the Aleutians is continuing. As already announced the attack was no surprise and the initial attacks at Dutch Harbor were met."

The statement continued: "It's a weird, wild country up there. There are great patches of fog and rain in which the enemy can hide, as a band of guerrillas may hide in the bush. There are literally thousands of small bays and inlets. The Japs know the country, but so does the navy."

"Why haven't the army and navy already driven the Japs out of the Aleutians? The weather explains that, in part. It's one thing to get at them in clear skies and another to get at them when the weather is foul and thick and snow is in the air and quick-forming ice burdens the wing of planes."

Is Strange Struggle

"You can depend on it. They are getting smacked whenever there is a rift in the fog banks. Some of the greatest stories of the war, some of the finest contributions to naval tradition, will come out of this strange struggle to give and take in the Aleutians."

"I wouldn't want to be one of those Japs up there. Suppose you had spent years as a Jap fisherman in Alaska, or as a bus boy in Seattle, and had gone back home for a few weeks before Pearl Harbor. Then suppose, because of your experience, you were sent on this Aleutian expedition—to occupy the outer islands, to try to take the Alaska outposts and, if successful in that, to establish bases in Alaska from which to attack British Columbia and the Northwest."

Such a Jap knows where he is, but he also knows with whom he is dealing. He knows the type of men who are above the fog, and out behind the snow and rain squalls searching for him. This Jap knows that if he isn't gone today he will be tomorrow, because these men are determined that even though the American flag was lowered in the Philippines it will not be lowered on the North American continent. And Canada will have a welcome hand in the struggle also.

"Those are real men up there, standing between us and the enemy, and they are facing realistically the problem presented by the opening of a new front where we meet the enemy for the first time under conditions where the difficulties are equal on either side."

Axis Forces May Be In Bardia

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—The British radio quoted a dispatch tonight from its correspondent on the Libyan front as saying axis forces had "probably" entered the town of Bardia, 10 miles from the Egyptian frontier. The BBC broadcast, heard here by CBS, said:

"A dispatch that came in only a half hour ago from Richard Dimbleby, our observer in the desert, says that the enemy columns which withdrew from the frontier area last night, moved up again today and had by now probably entered the town of Bardia, some 10 miles from the frontier."

Bloody Battle Is Still On In Region Of Sevastopol-Fury In African Desert

By RICHARD McMURRAY Associated Press War Editor

Britain pledged a second front in western Europe yesterday (Sat.) and staked off a 36-square mile jumping-off place pointed at the Dutch coast even as its hard-pressed Libyan army repelled a German advance to within 30 miles of Egypt.

The pledge came from Sir Stafford Cripps, parliamentary deputy for Winston Churchill while the prime minister and President Roosevelt—in the United States—were devising means to hit the axis and hit it hard in Europe, Africa and Asia.

It came against a background of bloody battle in eastern Europe where the Soviet stalwarts of Sevastopol claimed again to have hurled back furious German assaults with casualties which had mounted to a staggering 40,000. There were signs that the Russians had fanned the Smolensk front into flaming action some 200 or so miles west of Moscow.

RAF Back To Attack

Adding physical torment to the jangle of German nerves, the RAF returned to the attack with a "strongforce" of 250-300 bombers which raided the port of Emden and the northwest German rail and steel center of Osnabruck. The night raiders were scarcely berthed in their great hangars before hundreds of fighters took up the fight with offensive prowls over the French coast.

That German nerves were frayed was attested by a wholesale purge started by the Nazis in Vienna and the Austrian province of the lower Danube against all persons thought to be lazy, irresponsible, quarrelsome, immoral or in any way lukewarm to the war. Gestapo hangmen simultaneously started a wave of new executions in tortured Poland.

The Oriental wing of the axis felt the sting of United Nations might when British submarines sank three Japanese supply ships in the Strait of Malacca hard by Singapore, and allied bombers planted three bombs on a large transport in Rabaul, New Britain, and damaged other ships.

In Street Encounters

The Japanese were engaged bitterly in their East China drive with street fighting in Kwang-feng in Kiangsi province where the invaders are trying to subjugate the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway; and in Hupeh and Kwantung provinces.

While Churchill and the President worked in strict silence, a British view that a massive German drive against the Suez canal was impending was substantiated by a British report that the Nazis had demanded 1,000,000 tons of Mediterranean shipping from the prostrate French.

But the British, through Sir Stafford, gave ample notice that all the turns in this global war would not be called by Hitler.

"With the help of the United States and its industrial forces add to our own and the Soviet Union's productive resources," that high ranking government speaker declared, "we should be about able to launch a great and successful attack upon Hitler in the west" when the proper time comes.

"When we strike, let us strike hard and with determination to march through to Berlin before we call a halt."

Sir Stafford declared the continental invasion "may be sooner or later" and "it may not be too far ahead." Hitler's preparations to meet it, he said, "may influence the time factor."

The British war office cleared the East Anglia district with a coy explanation that it was needed for training and that there "was no story in it," but the very fact that it was a populated district and in striking distance of

by G.H.S.

Undermining Loyalty—

Years ago I knew a man who envied the success of and disliked another business man who employed thirty persons. Always when any of these thirty employees shopped at his store he turned on his beaming personality and showed excessive cordiality. He would invite them into his office or engage them in friendly conversation. Ultimately he would get around to asking them how they were getting along with their work and with their employer—the man he hated enviously. His subtle method was to plant a seed of discord in the employee's mind, going so far as to ask the unsuspecting worker how much he made and, when told, raise his eyebrows, as much as to infer that he was underpaid.

A long time elapsed before I discovered this man's ritual of demoralizing the morale of fellow employees. Then I took measures to counteract it.

But one young man listened too long and too well to this method of undermining loyalty to his employer. Falsely inspired that he was underpaid and that his employer didn't recognize his ability, he started an enterprise of his own. He missed a splendid opportunity for advancement in a well established business, and never did succeed in anything he undertook later.

Tactics of business men or anyone else to corrupt employee loyalty remind me that one does not have to be a Nazi to engage in "fifth columning."

Indispensable Men—

Too often outside influences delude an employee into believing that he is a "bigger shot" than he actually is. That does not mean that an employee should be a shrinking violet in his relationships with his employer who might overlook some of his merits. On the other hand his loyalty should be steadfast. Otherwise he should get out if, even by so doing, he next obtains inferior employment.

There seems to be a strange persistence to the misconception of indispensability. This belief is not only in the minds of clerks and minor employees, but also in the minds of many who work on factory machines, many in executive positions in private enterprises; and oddly enough it is the dogma of most politicians, their appointees, and those in high and lesser government bureaus.

Nature has been replacing men on our spinning sphere for millions of years and has not yet evolved a strictly indispensable human being. There is not an extant business or job today that can't be improved upon by those in a long waiting list of ambitious pilgrims.

Replacing efficient men in key positions, however, involves the time element of training. A sudden change in what is termed as an indispensable man can play havoc for a time with any fair-sized business enterprise. For this reason draft boards are authorized by the Selective Service Act to lend an ear to employer appeals for deferment of key men when such requests are reasonable beyond a doubt.

Fisherman's Luck—

My fishing luck on the Lake of the Ozarks this season has been absolutely zero. Therefore it seems that some form of mental telepathy must have inspired Larry Furlong of the Minnesota & Ontario Paper Co., Milwaukee, to have delivered to my back door by express a box of northern wall-eyed pike, the largest of which weighed 6 1/4 pounds. I was tempted to take one down to the lake, put it on a hook while no one was looking, then yell to other cottagers to come a-running and see what I caught. On second thought, I preferred to eat the pike while the eating was good.

Keep Your Eye On The Road—

While driving an automobile, the few times I have come close to smacking into someone else in the past eight years occurred when I relaxed vigilance. Ordinarily I pay attention to the driving job, mostly from force of habit after a Pennsylvania state trooper told me it was safer that way while he supervised my examination for a driver's license.

I am doubly sure of it from experience, and also from a list of safe driving rules published by the Missouri State Highway department Safety Bureau. Do you know what the first of the 12 rules is?

"1. WATCH THE ROAD. INATTENTION IS THE CAUSE OF MOST ACCIDENTS."

Irregardless of decreasing traffic on the roads, it is well to keep in mind the No. 1 safety rule, especially with a two-day holiday coming up on the Fourth of July, two weeks from now.

One Way To Slow Down Speeders—

Several persons want to know why the city doesn't fix up Sedalia streets with the $4.50 fees charged for city auto license stickers. If the money is used to good purpose someplace else this may be alright. Let the streets go to pot and become so rough that they will discourage fast driving. No one feels the bumps traveling 15 and 20 miles an hour. Many of the present bad spots are sure tough on tires, however.

Hazards of Lake Water

Fire and water are necessary to human life. Man has attempted but never completely controlled either.

Waters of the Lake of the Ozarks provide recreation for thousands of vacationers; yet dangerous without caution.

Occasional vacationers wonder why so many persons encumber themselves with a life-jacket—hot in the summer time—when they go boating and fishing. This precaution, at first thought, seems so unnecessary until one considers that already there have been many drownings even when the vast expanse of lake water is placid. Logs and hidden stumps invite unexpected disaster. When the lake becomes ruffled it is doubly hazardous.

Flash floods on the upper reaches of otherwise small streams, can create turbulence within a space of minutes, endangering life and property.

Many recent tragedies on the lake and streams sound a warning to vacationers to have as much care on still waters as they would around silent dogs.

Great Jove Goes Into A Rage—

After Friday morning's heavenly pyrotechnics I had intended to comment on the repetitious and vivid lightning flashes. However, Col. William Southern, Jr., editor of the Independence Examiner beat me to it, and more interestingly, in this manner:

"When I awakened at the usual time this morning I was told that along about 4 o'clock the artillery of the heavens went into action and that the lightning cracked and the thunder roared. I had heard the rain pattering on the roof but did not hear the thunder. It was suggested that the makers of thunder and lightning were becoming peeved at the idea that mere human beings on earth were trying to cause more noise by artificial means of artillery in war than heaven could match.

"One lady awakened and could not go to sleep again and devoted the inspiration to a little verse:

Great Jove is in a rage all night
Hurling bolts of thunder.
What, oh what has Juno done
To make him rage, I wonder.

Juno doesn't mean to—no!
She merely says, says she,
"They're making lots more noise down there
Than you make here with me."

"What? What?" cries Jove, "I'll show those men
And I'll just beat them to it!"
And mercy—mercy! there and then
He starts right out to do it.

Poor Juno does not sleep two winks—
She ponders long on love—
And once again she sadly thinks,
"Why did I marry Jove?"

A Late Warning About Fairs—

Without in the least disparaging the merit of the request of Joseph B. Eastman, defense transportation director, calling off all state and county fairs to relieve the burden of transportation and tire wear, nevertheless this appeal, like so many others, comes a bit late.

Months ago the subject of holding fairs this year became a matter of concern in its relation to the war effort. The government was slow to grasp the implications; no forthright declaration against fairs was made. With the topic left in a befuddled state, fair managers themselves could not take the initiative; hence went ahead with their plans.

Multitudinous preparations had to be made contracts signed, premium lists arranged, all the innumerable details attended to. Since the curtain had not been ordered down, the show must go on.

Of course Missouri can call off its state fair, so can Illinois, Iowa and all the rest. But with only two months to go and all financial arrangements practically complete there will necessarily result a loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars not only to the enterprises themselves but to additional thousands of workers who make fairs their livelihood. True this is pin money and inconsequential when compared to the necessities of the war effort.

Eastman's announcement on behalf of the government at this late date is another indication of the slowness with which government bureau heads move in their analysis of situations. The people themselves are so many jumps ahead of them that it might not be amiss to suggest that leaders knock off time enough to play among the grass roots and find out the answers instead of spurring their heels into mahogany Washington desks.

In the case of Missouri, if the fair had been called off earlier in the year, when the idea was first broached, the state's million dollar institution could have been made available to some vitally needed war project. Under the circumstances of closing up for the duration, Missouri's state fair equipment may revert to idle uselessness.

The Fair As A Vacation Spot—

Mr. Eastman cautions the public against pleasure trips other than vacations. This is rather ambiguous. Some might interpret it as an invitation to state fair managers to hang out a sign on the gate:

"Enjoy your vacation this year at the Missouri State Fair grounds."

Would that qualify the management to keep open?

One Fair Warning—About Coal—

There is one thing about which the public has had fair and ample warning—the coal situation as it affects transportation.

Come fall there will be no sense crying for coal if you can't get it. The government has appealed to consumers to buy their supply this summer. Time's a wastin'.

So They Say

For the first time in the history of the human race there can be enough of everything to go round. Poverty is not inevitable any more.—Donald M. Nelson, chairman War Production Board.

We still have a tremendous job to do, but we will never relax for one moment until this flood of war weapons has become an avalanche of power in the hands of our soldiers, to speed the day when you can return to your homes.—Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman General Motors Corporation.

Hitler's air force is beginning to feel the strain both in aircraft and, what is more important, in trained crews to operate them.—Lord Halifax, British ambassador to the United States.

Merry-Go-Round

by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—During most of last winter, Gov. Dr. Ernest Gruening of Alaska constituted a one-man lobby pounding on office doors to promote the fortifications of Alaska.

Gov. Gruening contended that the Japs were sure to bomb Alaska, probably would attempt a landing, and that Alaska was woefully undefended.

Finally, Gov. Gruening went to see the president himself. The president sympathized heartily, but finally replied by asking this question:

"How many planes do you think we have defending the city of New York?"

Then he went on to say that he had called in the army a few days before to answer that question, and was surprised at the figure. The president also went on to explain that it was absolutely essential for us to send planes to war fronts where they could be used immediately—where the fighting was actually taking place. If they went to Alaska or New York, he pointed out, they might sit there for months doing nothing, while the battles were being lost on the Russian front.

Therefore, the limited number of planes had to be distributed to areas where the need was urgent.

This was the position also taken by Gen. Marshall, Admiral King and other war chiefs, and explains why the Japanese had such an easy time getting a foothold on the extreme end of the Aleutian islands.

Since this White House conversation last winter, U. S. air strength has been enormously increased. Present disposition of forces is a military secret. The Aleutian island bases remain all-important in staging air raids on Japan, and that is why the Japs were anxious to seize them.

NOTE: The American public is completely sympathetic with the necessity of spreading our defenses thin, but not so sympathetic with the official minimizing of the Aleutian island attack. At first this attack was denied—though we had a radio station on Attu which must have reported or at least gone silent after the attack. Then it was announced that no important Jap ships were in the Aleutians. Following which it was revealed that we had hit or sunk eight ships—so there or sunk eight ships—so there after all.

Euchring Frank Murphy

Looks as if some of Justice Frank Murphy's "friends" were trying to euchring him off the Supreme Court and as a lieutenant colonel in the army.

Biddle said the matter was examined carefully when U. S. Judge Charles E. Clark of the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals wanted to do some additional work for the government, and it was vetoed by the Justice Department.

Those around the Supreme Court are mystified by Biddle's call, but some interpret it as the unseen hand of Justice Felix Frankfurter, a friend of Biddle's, who would like to see another court vacancy, especially at the expense of Murphy.

NOTE: Meanwhile Justice Murphy has received universal acclaim for preparing himself for equalities in the army.

Jesse Jones' Home Town

When the U. S. was planning to import Chilean nitrate some time ago, Stanley T. Crossland of Jesse Jones' RFC discussed a plan for insuring the nitrate with Stewart Hopps, well-known New York insurance man.

He said the nitrate from Chile would be unloaded at Houston, Tex., (Jesse Jones' home town) where it would be stacked up in piles—out of doors. He explained that boards could be put around the nitrate to hold it in place, until it hardened, then it could be stacked higher and higher. This, he said, would save warehousing.

Then, noting the incredulous look on Hopps' face, Crossland added: "That's the way they do it in Chile."

"But do you know that in northern Chile it rains ordinarily only once in about 18 years," replied Hopps, "and that one time an unexpected rain cost the insurance companies six and a half million dollars. And did you also know that in Houston at some seasons of the year it rains almost every afternoon?"

NOTE: Few people think it is mere accident that nitrates are being stored, of all places in the U.S.A., at Jesse Jones' home town of Houston. Nor do they think it an accident that a tin smelter has been erected, of all places in the U.S.A., at Houston. Many other cities nearer the industrial areas where these materials finally are used, put in bids for them. But Houston got the plums.

Life In Germany

U. S. diplomats who returned on the Drottningholm relate many significant sidelights on life in wartime Germany.

One is that Germans, among the heaviest meat eaters in the world, have been forced by the food shortage to turn to vegetables, and now more vegetables are consumed in the Nazi land than ever. Before the war, Germany stood seventh in vegetable consumption in Europe; now it ranks third.

The returned diplomats declare that the food shortage in Germany is becoming an important war factor. Before they left, an order was issued banning the feeding of potatoes to rabbits, fowl and other domestic animals.

Also alcohol has disappeared almost entirely from shops, and what is sold as liver sausage, a great German favorite, now contains no liver at all.

Another item stressed by the returned diplomats is the des-

Claim Enemy Agents Flash Signals

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 20

—(AP)—Enemy agents are flashing signals to Axis submarines from hotel windows in Atlantic coast resorts, New Jersey's disabled veterans of World War One were told Friday by County Judge Thomas Siddall, Atlantic City defense council chairman.

Siddall said he had seen the signals reflected from hotels in Atlantic City and other shore resorts. He spoke at the 23rd annual convention of the New Jersey department, disabled American veterans.

Recent false rumors of test blackouts in New Jersey were blamed by Siddall on subversive elements he said were attempting to confuse the people.

A VISITOR

CHAPTER IX

AFTER Strickland Ballard had left, Hunter sat on his cot wanting somehow to laugh, though it was much nearer a crying matter. Ballard had come with a vague hope of fastening the crime on Hunter. His real reason was to shield poor Junior. Because Hunter's motive all along had been pretty much the same thing, it might seem as if they could get together. The trouble was that Hunter Dent was not quite prepared to carry a crime of which he was innocent to save another who seemed guilty.

Whatever Ballard's call, it took him hastily away. When Anderson came for Hunter to talk over the telephone, he laughed ironically.

"If I have any more high-and-mighty guests like you, Dent, I aim to install a private phone. There you are."

"Hello," Hunter said. "This is Tracy Hanning. I can't be with you until 10 o'clock. Will that be time enough?"

"Okay. We'll make it time enough."

Hunter returned to his cell. Anderson obligingly brought the morning paper. Aside from the war news, the most interesting thing to Hunter was the dope on the local mystery. The girl, Sarah Kiker, had been released. The police would be watching her every moment to discover her escort the night of the murder. The long-expected break in the ordinance scandal came. The elder Ghibardo had been arrested in the charge of fraud in the contracts for building the great plant, and his case would come up in Federal Court. The First National, and other local financial interests, were allegedly involved. Other financial interests meant Strickland Ballard, who had his finger in every pie that came along. Perhaps it was this involvement that had taken Ballard away so quickly.

Tracy Hanning came at the appointed time. They went over the whole matter, detail by detail.

DURING the afternoon Hunter entertained himself looking out his single window. The autumn afternoon spread over the western part of Middleton. The jail overlooked the river, and the old water-front section of town where the stick-up had been staged. It was a mean, dismal, but picturesque mixture of dirty warehouses, old rickety buildings, poor dwellings in need of light and paint and sanitation. River rats, thieves, gamblers, riff-raff of all sorts, inhabited the neighborhood. Down there were plenty who would have esteemed it the opportunity of a lifetime to kill a man and take $17,000 off him. But what on earth was the messenger from the bank doing in that section of town with the bag of money on him, at such a time of night? And even more mysterious was the manner the thugs had found out the messenger was on his way. The killers had to know beforehand a lot of things that somebody was going to be red in the face trying to answer.

"That brings up young Temple. He is the lad whose face is going to be red before all this is over!" Hunter concluded.

Hunter got a pretty good night's sleep that night, and the next morning at 9 o'clock he faced Judge Elkhart and heard his bond fixed at $10,000. Hanning took Hunter back to jail. Hunter didn't feel so good. Nor did his feelings look up as he saw the day pass. Always an active outdoor man, this enforced idleness was killing him. He slept fitfully, dreaming of Junior Ballard's dying, of the lost money; and questions about why the money was moving, and where, tormented his half dreams. After breakfast the next morning Anderson came to his door.

"Visitor," the sheriff announced. He let Bella Ballard in. "Rattle the door when you want to leave, Miss Ballard," he said when he left.

"They think Junior has a chance now. The doctors won't allow him to speak, to see any of us. But Dr. Ferguson thinks if no complications set in he will get well."

Hunter said warmly, "Well, I'm proud to hear that, Red. I really am."

She looked around and grinned. "I like your apartment, Hunter."

"No wisecracks, please. Or I'll have Anderson lock you up with me."

"I think I would like that."

"Like grief? I'd tear these jail walls down to escape anything like that!"

"Love that would burst through jail walls and jump heavy bond awes me. If you really would like to get out of here, at least temporarily, I bet it could be arranged."

"You BET it could be arranged! No more of that. I've seen the fruits of such wickedness, and I'm fed up on the flavor."

She said, with mock sadness, "You don't like the Ballard family trait very much, do you, Hunter

I mean the sporting instinct which is such a marked characteristic of ours."

"No—bluntly, I don't care for it at all."

SHE came and looked down at him, and tousled his hair. "So you don't like us?"

"I didn't say that. I don't like this so-called sporting blood you all have. Granting that life is pretty much of a gamble, there are still enough good laws in the universe for anybody to live by."

"Come on," she urged. "It's a good text and the sermon should be uplifting. Your idea is use your brains, work hard, be honest, early to bed and early to rise."

"You can't make me ashamed of the old-fashioned virtues. I guess we can be realistic."

"Please!" she begged. "When folks go realistic they are usually disagreeable."

"Just the same, when Junior gets out of the woods he is still likely to be in a jam. I've been trying pretty hard to shield him. But I can't do it and get my neck in the noose. You and I know Junior's involved in this nasty business. My idea is that young Temple gave the secret of the money movement away. Someone bet Junior he could not intercept the messenger, stage a fake stick-up, and get away with it. Now the messenger is dead, the money's gone, Junior's shot, I'm in jail, your daddy is about to have a nervous break-down, and—well, isn't that enough? Wouldn't you be sold on the old-fashioned platitudes if they would have prevented this, as they would?"

"She was smiling when he looked up at her loweringly. She had an insolent and beautiful way of standing, her hand on her hip, just eyeing him."

"I'll lay you a wager, Hunter."

"He said crossly, "Go play like you're a squirrel and run up and down a tree and bark."

"I'll wager you your freedom, terribly as you profess to hate us—"

"I never said I hated you."

"saturated as your evil heart is with a desire for revenge, that in no time at all you will be asking me to marry you, and what's more, I might say yes, and we'd be married!"

"Red, will you please run along? Will you? I'd hate to—"

"It's on the barrelhead," she laughed. She rattled the door for Anderson to let her out.

An hour later Sheriff Anderson was back. "Get your knitting. They've got the hot-seat ready and are fixing to burn the seat of your pants out. Come along."

Military Treaty By U. S. And Cuba

in announcing the agreement, said Cuba acted as a "co-belligerent ally and has taken another step in its close collaboration in the joint war effort against the Axis nations."

New Proposal In Collection Of Income Tax

Treasury Offers
Plan of Taking It
Out at Source

WASHINGTON, June 20—(AP)—A new treasury proposal for collecting individual income taxes at the source was presented to the House ways and means committee today and members said the chances were excellent that it would be approved.

It contemplates that beginning January 1 employers would withhold from employees' paychecks 10 percent of the amount above an allowance for basic exemptions. Half the amount withheld in 1943 would be credited against the payments due on this year's taxes, and half against 1943 taxes due March 15, 1944.

Randolph Paul, tax adviser to Secretary Morgenthau, explained the plan this way in a statement to the committee:

The taxpayer would be permitted to credit against his March 15, 1943, installment on 1942 taxes, half of the amounts withheld at source during January and February, 1943; against his June 15 installment, half of the amounts withheld during March, April and May; against his September 15 installment, half of the amounts withheld during June, July and August; and against his December 15 installment, half of the amounts withheld during September, October and November.

"Under this plan, slightly more than half of the total amount withheld at source during 1943 1944, as a credit against 1943 income tax liabilities. In this way, the transition to collection at source would be spread over the two years, 1943 and 1944."

Give a Father's Day Salute To Paul Revere--He Rates It

"It seems amazing..."

By NEA Service

BOSTON, June 21. — Today, America is having its first war-time celebration of National Father's Day. And if anybody is looking for an appropriate and inspiring hero for the occasion, he couldn't find a better one than Paul Revere. For the Boston patriot, besides winning the steeplechase to Concord (via Lexington) on a borrowed horse, gave George Washington some brisk competition for the title of Father of His Country.

Not only was Paul Revere one of the fathers of the American Revolution. He was also the father of Deborah, Paul, Sarah, Mary, Frances, Mary (II), Elizabeth, Hannah, Joshua, John, Joseph, Lucy, Harriett, John (II), Maria, and John (III). So it can't be said he wasn't as enthusiastic a parent as he was a patriot, even if he did a little short of names toward the end.

He Was A Busy Man

It seems amazing today—as it probably did in Revolutionary

Boston—that Revere could have found time for anything except feeding and clothing his children, and taking an occasional inventory. But his contribution to the cause of liberty didn't end with the country's first and most famous civilian defense job. He played an active part throughout the war, meanwhile keeping up with business enterprises almost as numerous as his progeny.

In fact there was probably a connection. He seemed to have more children as he grew more successful, and as he had more business to remain successful. Apparently it was a pleasant round rather than a vicious circle. He lived to be 83, and his estate of 20,000 early 19th century dollars was not, as the saying is, hay.

First Revere was a great silversmith, to which he added a sideline of copper engraving. Then he went in for dentistry. Branching out, he bought a hardware establishment and stocked it with as many varied items as a chain drugstore.

One Company Is Still Going
He helped organize America's first mutual fire insurance company. He bought a foundry that turned out bells and cannon. It's still doing business today as Revere Copper and Brass, Inc., producing material for the present war.

In a life filled with 16 assorted children, two wives, a half dozen businesses and a hand in a revolution, Paul Revere seems to have had only one serious problem. That was what to do with his leisure time. So he took up cartooning as a hobby.

Altogether quite a remarkable and admirable gentleman, Mr. Revere, and a fit hero for 1942 Father's Day—especially since this year's slogan: "Honor a Great American—Your Dad," might have been coined for the Revere kids.

John T. Ready, Jr. Navy Lieutenant

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Ready, 3635 Holmes street, Kansas City, have received word that their son, John T. Ready, Jr., had been promoted to a lieutenant in the navy. Lieutenant Ready is commander of a base in the Pacific war area and has been given a letter of commendation from Admiral C. W. Nimitz for the work of his unit.

The young officer's father is a former Sedalian, but for a considerable term of years has been in Kansas City.

After the sinking of the Lexington, U. S. airplane carrier, some apprehension was felt concerning Lieut. Ready, who relatives thought might have been aboard that vessel, but evidently their fears were groundless.

Type Of Men To Train The Woman Army

Not A Hard
Boiled Sergeant
Among Officers

(Editor's note: The first 440 officer-candidates will report to the women's army auxiliary corps training school at Fort Des Moines July 20. Here a description of the men who'll teach them.)

By George S. Mills

FORT DES MOINES, Ia., June 20—(World Wide)—Girls meet some of the men who will have charge of turning you into soldiers in the women's army auxiliary corps training school here.

Staff and faculty of the school consist of 41 commissioned and non-commissioned officers. Not one hard-boiled-army-sergeant type showed up in seven random interviews.

The officers insist that they are not afraid of the job of fitting women into what heretofore has been one of mere man's last citadels, the army. Five of the seven officers are married and in their upper forties or early fifties.

Two Young Bachelors

The two bachelors are youngsters, one 28, the other 24.

"A skirt and a pair of breeches are different garments," observed Colonel Don C. Faith, affable commanding officer of the school, "That illustrates why WAAC regulations will not duplicate those of the army but will parallel them."

The colonel, who has held an army commission 25 years, was on the Mexican border and in Camp Logan, Houston, Tex., during World War I. He was on duty in the Philippines in 1921-22 and in Tientsin, China, in 1931-32.

He was attending the University of Wisconsin when the first world war broke out, and his experience includes four years as instructor with the Wisconsin national guard at Baraboo, Wis. He also has served with the 29th infantry demonstration regiment at Fort Benning, Ga., attended the command and general staff school at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., and graduated from the war college in Washington, D. C., in 1938.

Son An Officer

One of his three sons, Don, Jr., is a second lieutenant in the 82nd division at Camp Claiborne, La.

"I think American women are plenty intelligent and I am not worried about how this whole program will work out," the colonel said. "The modern American woman has a lot of flexibility of mind. She will be able to make the necessary adjustments."

He conceded that "there will be minor problems, the beauty shop problem for example." Facilities for that phase of feminine life will be available here, he said, but there will be no cutting of classes to get a hair-do.

When the colonel arrived some time ago, he warned the candidates to expect a lot of hard work and he described the school as "no playhouse for glamor girls."

What about discipline?

No Guardhouse
"We are not proposing to establish a guardhouse for the WAACs. Standards of conduct of women generally are higher than men. Then, it is perfectly apparent that we will always have plenty of source material to draw from. We can always discharge a woman and fill the vacancy with a high class individual."

On the social side, he said: Captain Gordon C. Jones, director of training, is a 28-year-old bachelor with a wave in his auburn hair.

"I don't even know a girl," he declared.

He was in his second year as a commandant of the Riverside Military Academy at Gainesville, Fla., and Hollywood, Fla., when he was called as a reserve officer into service.

He is a native of Columbus, Kas., and a graduate of the Citadel, South Carolina Military college. He and several of his associates on the staff and faculty were on the WAAC pre-planning board in Washington before coming here.

Late In Starting

"I feel the only shortcoming about this thing is that we are a year late in getting started," said the captain.

Major W. M. Harton, 48, of Conway, Ark., will command one of the WAAC training regiments. In the first world war he saw action as an artilleryman in the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne engagements during his 11½ months overseas.

He served in the Arkansas national guard from 1926 to 1940, when he returned to active duty. He is an optometrist in civilian life. He has one son and one daughter.

Thomas Lester Terry

Thomas Lester Terry, aged 64 years, a former LaMonte hardware merchant and who spent the younger years of an active life there, passed away at 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at his home in Okmulgee, Okla., according to a message to his brother, Clarence E. Terry, of LaMonte.

Mr. Terry had been in failing health in recent years and for the past six months a heart ailment became acute and hastened the end.

Mr. Terry was born at LaMonte December 24, 1878 the son of the late Thomas and Nancy Terry, pioneer residents of the LaMonte community his father for many years being cashier of the LaMonte Bank.

Mr. Terry was in the Spanish American war with Company D, Second Missouri Volunteer Infantry, and it was while in service with camp at Chickamauga, Ga., that he met Miss Bertha Davis to whom he was married April 5, 1899.

After mustered out of service Mr. Terry and his bride made their home at LaMonte for a term of years, he being in the hardware business there eight years.

Thirtyfive years ago he sold his business and left for Okmulgee where since he had been in the plumbing and heavy hardware business.

He was a member of the Christian church at Okmulgee also of the Kiwanis club and was active in civic matters there.

He is survived beside his widow by four children, Theodore Terry, Williamsburg, Va., Miss Ewing Terry, in Michigan, Pinckney Terry, Big Springs, Texas, and Thomas Terry, of Muskogee, Okla.

Revise Beef And Veal Ceiling

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—The Office of Price Administration revised the basis for ceiling prices on beef and veal at the packer and wholesale levels.

The regulation, effective July for each grade of carcass and quarter of beef, or carcass and saddle of veal, shall be a price no higher than the lowest price at which each individual merchandiser sold at least 30 per cent of his total quantity of that grade during March 16-28, 1942.

Maximum retail prices charged consumers were not affected by the revision.

The OPA order is expected, however, to relieve considerable pressure against retail beef and veal price ceilings, officials explained.

Under the general maximum price regulation, fixing beef and veal ceilings at the peak March levels, OPA reported, certain wholesalers and packers had ceiling prices which exceeded the actual prices that most retailers had paid during March—and on which, they, in turn, had based their retail prices.

attached a string to his beloved album of the Lexington and threw it onto the destroyer's deck. That and a pipe were all that he saved of his possessions.

"I didn't want to leave her," he said, "but we had to when we couldn't control the fires." The Lexington finally was sunk by American torpedoes to prevent her from falling into the hands of the Japs in case she stayed afloat, but for hours the big aircraft carrier, her complement was about 2,800—refused to go down, although she had suffered mortal blows by enemy torpedoes and bombs.

The attack on the Lexington came about 11:30 in the morning during the Coral Sea battle, with 55 or 60 Jap planes in the attacking force.

Standing By Gun

The Sedalia sailor, serving as second gunner, was standing by his anti-aircraft gun when he saw the first Jap aircraft coming in. It was a torpedo plane and was flying 20 or 30 feet above the water, Chewing recalled. The Americans let go with their fire.

Downed 19 Jap Planes

"We got 19 Jap planes," he proudly explained. His own gun group accounted for two—a dive bomber and a torpedo plane. He saw two enemy ships crash—the heat of the battle was so furious it was hard to tell who had scored the hits—one of them piling up in a flaming heap on the deck of the Lexington.

Chewing reported that the enemy used three types of craft—torpedo planes, Zeros and dive bombers. As the Japanese airmen assaulted the Lexington, planes from the U. S. carrier were blasting in the enemy, inflicting a toll of two Jap aircraft carriers.

Afloat Several Hours

Even several hours after the battle the Lexington was on even keel and was doing 22 knots, when the explosions caused by damage in the fight occurred the men were still at their battle stations. Then came the orders to abandon ship, and the officers and sailors were rescued by U. S. warships hovering by. Navy communiques have estimated that 92 per cent of the men of the Lexington were saved.

The Coral Sea battle was not the first for the young Sedalian. He was in a big melee in February and in March there was a sea fight at the Samoa Isles off New Guinea.

After only a month's training at San Diego, following his enlistment in December, Chewing was sent to Pearl Harbor and later was assigned to the Lexington.

Injured After Battle

His injuries—well, several days after the Coral Sea scrap he was carrying a five-inch projectile, lost his footing and it fell on his left hand, smashing a couple of fingers. He's glad the projectile didn't explode.

Chewing, a slight, alert fellow with brown eyes and brown hair that pops out from under his sailor's cap, landed on the west coast early in June and arrived in Sedalia Thursday on a 12-day furlough.

He hitch-hiked home. "Oh, you came by the thumb route?" he was asked during an interview Saturday. "No, the air route—'air ya going my way?' he quipped.

It took him four days to make it here from California, and en route he encountered a number of fellow mates from the Lexington, all anxious to get to their homes after the exciting forays at sea.

Chewing is visiting in Sedalia with his mother, his sister, Mrs. Mina Brown, a brother Wheeler Chewing, all of the home address, and another sister Miss Nona Chewing who is here from Grain Valley, Mo.

Brother In Army

The young seaman has a brother, Harry Chewing, serving with the U. S. army at Sitka, Alaska. There are two other brothers and two sisters away from home. Willard was born July 6, 1921 at LaMonte. His father was the late C. L. Chewing.

Asked if he has a sweetheart, he said "Sure I do." She works in a Sedalia drug store, and would be pleased to see the way he smiled when he spoke of her.

But that's the way Willard Chewing came up from his harrowing experience at sea—smiling. He's ready to go back to duty, as soon as he gets his visiting done at home—and he would like very much to be assigned to the new Lexington.

Federal Jury Indicts Many

KANSAS CITY, June 20.—(AP)—A federal grand jury today indicted Paul Antinori of Tampa, Fla., and Frances Perry, a beautiful young Kansas City woman, for perjury before the jury probing a vast narcotic ring which the government charges was operated between Tampa and Kansas City.

Miss Perry was arrested today in her south side apartment under a capias warrant issued by federal district Judge John Caskie Collet.

Her bond was set at $10,000, although she was pictured as being only a minor part of the ring—an associate of Joseph DeLuca, indicted April 25 as one of the key figures.

DeLuca is in jail here on failure to post $25,000 bond.

Two indictments were returned against Antinori, both charging perjury. His bond was set at $10,000 for each indictment. He now is in jail on an information filed yesterday which charged perjury. Bond in that instance was set at $10,000 by Charles H. Thompson, U. S. commissioner.

The jury did not complete its investigation into the alleged narcotics ring and it was expected the probe would be continued when the jury is recalled.

Sixteen men and women were named in another indictment charging them with operation of a wholesale liquor supply station here for Kansas bootleggers.

The indictment, one of 70 returned before Judge Collet, charged that liquor was delivered to bootleggers for Kansas consumption from warehouses which were filled by purchases made under the name of the Gold Crown Liquor company.

Tony Treccariche was listed as operator of the liquor store and Basil Sima as manager. The others indicted were listed as participating in the alleged conspiracy as agents, partners, drivers and associates.

At national conventions two years ago in Chicago and Philadelphia, Dr. Townsend declared, "The people had nothing to do with the nomination of the candidates."

"These conventions were shameful spectacles, where the nominations were made by the riff-raff."

British In Pledge Of A Second Front

the German-held continent tickled the imagination.

Fury In Desert Fighting

The fury of the North African desert fighting appeared to have subsided after the British defeat that had set the eighth army back on the Egyptian-Libyan frontier leaving an oasis of resistance around the port of Tobruk.

The two main axis columns which approached within 25 miles of Bardia were engaged and turned back westward, but the Germans apparently were only feigning in gait the strength of the new British positions and consolidating their newly won gains.

That wily old desert fox, Marshal Erwin Rommel, set a trap within a trap a week ago and turned reverse into victory. He did this by chasing a strong British tank force into an ambush of 88-mm guns, apparently after dispatching a fake radio message which sent the British forces to help another division. The carnage of twisted steel and bleeding men turned the tables.

The British desert air force bombed Rhodes and Crete, often named as concentration points for axis troops which Hitler might loose against Cyprus, Syria or Turkey in an effort to squeeze Egypt and Suez between two axis forces.

Again they might be hurled through the Middle East to strike the rich Russian Caucasus from the rear and sever the vital Russian supply route leading up through the Persian gulf and Iran.

The 16-day assault on Sevastopol seemed to be approaching a decision with the Germans throwing reinforcements behind artillery, tanks and dive-bombers. The Russians claimed the foe made no important gain but the Moscow correspondent of the British radio declared "the danger is very great" and that the Germans have reached a high road leading to Sevastopol.

Nazis Claim Successes

The Germans claimed further successes and said "Soviet remnants" north of the great Crimean base were being mopped up. But it was apparent to all that the Nazis were paying a frightful price in attempting to erase the pocket of resistance on their most direct route to the Caucasus.

The Russians were sagely silent about the reported Smolensk offensive. The news came from the Germans who said waves of Russian infantry were attacking behind tank and air support. The Russians rarely tell of their offenses unless they are well under way. An important town in the Smolensk direction was reported captured however.

North of Smolensk on the Kalinin front, the Russians said they killed 2,000 Germans. In the Ukraine below Kharkov, the fighting seemed reduced although the Nazis claimed a Soviet division was surrounded and almost annihilated.

Hitler's war on Russia—which he expected to complete within six weeks—enters its second year Monday and the Red army was declared by competent experts to be far stronger, better organized, armed and trained.

No longer were the Germans hurling the cream of the Nazi manpower against the Red army. Most of the cream was long since dead or frostbitten—victims of formidable and unerrant military machine and bitter Russian winter.

Fight Through Night

MOSCOW, SUNDAY, June 21.—(AP)—Fierce fighting raged unabated throughout last night in the battle for Sevastopol and on the Kharkov front Soviet defenders fought advancing German forces, the Russians announced early today.

Proposal For A Negro-Manned Unit

ST. LOUIS, June 20.—(AP)—The United States Cartridge Company announced today it planned a training school for Negroes with the ultimate aim to have one manufacturing unit at the small arms ammunition plant here entirely Negro-manned.

A few hours after the announcement by the Western Cartridge Company subsidiary, which operates the war plant for the government, 200 Negro men and women in single file circled the plant bearing banners protesting alleged discrimination against Negroes. The man leading the march which lasted about 45 minutes, carried an American flag. There was no disturbance.

A statement by a company spokesman said:

"The training program contemplated for Negroes is the same as provided for all skilled machine adjusters and is in connection with plans under consideration for a manufacturing unit to be manned by Negro workers."

Allied Airmen Rescued From Shark Infested Sea

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, June 20.—(AP)—Six allied airmen clung to a rubber raft in shark-infested waters of the Coral Sea for two-and-a-half hours before being rescued by natives in canoes. Capt. Albert Mose of Ashton, Ill., said today. Just before the distressed plane hit the water, the fliers saw a school of 60 or 70 sharks.

Mose said the bomber was returning from a successful attack when one of the motors failed and the plane went into a spin. One of the crew was killed when the plane hit the sea.

"He didn't give himself a change," Capt. Mose said. "He was trying desperately to save the ship, working on the motors up to the moment we hit the water."

Corp. Merrill Hyde, of Leesville, Louisiana, although injured, crawled out on the tail and set one of the life rafts adrift, undoubtedly saving the lives of the rest of the crew, Capt. Mose said.

Lieut. Gene Dresher, bombardier, and Lieut. Robert Kenyon, the navigator, also were injured, the captain reported.

Despite the presence of sharks, Capt. Mose dived and released Hyde whose feet had become entangled in his parachute.

Private John Hamilton of Adamsville, Tenn., and an Australian were the only people able to do any work and they attempted unsuccessfully to lift Dresher into the raft.

Then because the raft was too small to hold more than two people they climbed in and paddled, while the others clung to the sides.

Carried Lamb To Compete In Show

KANSAS CITY, June 20.—(P)—Bill Cross' lamb won no prizes at the Midwest Vocational Agricultural Fat Lamb show Friday—but it wasn't because the 16-year-old Lexington, Mo., farm youth didn't try.

Last night's storm of wind and rain reduced the entry list from 1,000 lambs expected to less than 700. It was muddy and still raining when Bill got up at 3 o'clock this morning to bring his entry to town.

He and his teacher carried the 90-pound lamb a quarter mile to the paved highway and a waiting truck.

A heavy lamb entered by Coby Lee Miller of Stet, Mo., was declared champion. Marshall Grove of Gallatin, Mo., was awarded the reserve championship for his lightweight lamb.

Dodgers Take Three Games From Cards

Seven Game Winning Streak Of Red Birds Is Stopped Short

BROOKLYN, June 20—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers took care of whatever was crucial about their series with the second place Cardinals today, pounding the St. Louis club into submission, 10 to 4, for their third successive victory over Billy Southworth's men.

The Cards came into Ebbets Field two days ago riding high on a seven-game winning streak and with hopes of cutting into the National League leader's pace-setting margin. After dropping two close ones and then seeding four of their pitchers walloped for 15 hits today, the Redbirds found themselves trailing by seven and one-half games and the Dodgers enjoying their biggest advantage of the season. The final two games of the series will be played tomorrow.

Kept Pace For A Time
For five innings the Cards kept pace with the Dodgers and as early as the third inning led by 4-2 as both of the starting pitchers, Lon Werneke and Curt Davis, were pounded hard. Hugh Casey relieved Davis during the Cards' third inning uprising and checked them with two hits the remainder of the game to receive credit for the victory.

Warneke stayed around until the sixth when the Dodgers jumped on him for four hits and as many runs. Harry Gumbert, Howard Krist and Murry Dickson finished with the Dodgers picking up single runs in the seventh and eighth frames.

Joe Medwick contributed three singles and a double to the Dodgers' attack and stretched his batting streak to 23 consecutive games. He drove in three tallies as did Mickey Owen with two singles.

Wolff Couldn't Produce A Victory For Hometown Fans

ST. LOUIS, June 20—(P)—Today was Roger Wolff Day but the Philadelphia Athletics pitcher couldn't produce a victory for a group of visitors from his home town of Chester, Ill.

Although he pitched a six-hitter, Wolff was beaten by the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 3. He issued seven walks and the Browns converted three of them into runs, Glenn McQuillen blasting two across with a double in the seventh inning. Chet Laabs hit a home run for the Browns in the eighth.

Denny Galehouse blanked the A's on two hits, both by Lou Blair, in the first six innings, but they banged out a total of five singles in the seventh and eighth for their three runs. Blair added his third hit in the seventh.

Remember Sedalia's Baseball Team Of The 1902 Vintage

Going back—yes forty years—and we see the representatives of Sedalia's baseball team of 1902. You baseball fans of forty years ago still talk about "Dummy" Curtis and "Dummy" Burson, the famous battery of the Sedalia club and in this picture they are along with the rest bring back fond memories. In the back standing erect with his "iron derby" is Manager Joe Roe. Richard F. "Dick" Rohn, played first base with the team, but he was not along when the picture was taken. The players in the picture are: Top row Guy Carpenter, now in Marshall, a former deputy sheriff, and Manager Roe, now at Pasadena, California, operating a chicken ranch. Center row: "Dummy" Burson, deceased; "Shorty" Hutchinson, whose whereabouts are unknown; "Dummy" Curtis, who is in Kansas City; Rube Farrell, now a plumber in Webb City, Mo.; Grundy, whose address is unknown; Charles Bundy, whose address is not known; Roxie Roach, Sedalian now deceased.

Hogan And Turnesa Tie Hale America

The 54-Hole Lead Held By Turnesa Into A Real Scrap

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
CHICAGO, June 20—Tiny Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., in a dogged challenge, came from behind today to tie Mike Turnesa for a 54-hole lead in the Hale America national open golf tournament at Ridgemoor Country Club with a total of 203.

The Texas-born Hogan, leading money winner among the professionals for the past three years, led Turnesa, the White Plains, N. Y., pro by a single shot going to the 18th, but there he was unlucky enough to drive his iron tee shot into a trap at the left of the green. His second was barely on the edge of the carpet, 13 feet short of the cup and he took two putts to hole out for a bogey 4—the first time he had gone over par in 36 holes.

Turnesa Is Slowed
Turnesa started today's 18-hole third round with a three-stroke lead, in his 131 total, but the heavy conditions of the fairways, and soggy greens slowed him down to a 38-34-72, even par. Hogan was not bothered by the weather, however, and posted a 33-36-69.

Their cards:

Par out	455	344	434	36
Turnesa out	465	435	434	38
Hogan out	454	244	433	33
Par in	434	455	443	36
Turnesa in	424	455	442	34
Hogan in	434	355	444	36

Thus, it appeared certain that Turnesa and Texas Ben would battle it out in the final 18 holes tomorrow. They may face serious opposition from Jimmy Demaret of Detroit who scored a 35-34-69 for 205; Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., with a 35-36-71 for 206; Horton Smith, Pinehurst, N. C., veteran with 36-35-71 for 206; Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., with a 37-32-69 for 208, and Jim Ferrier of Elmhurst, Ill., who shot a 35-33-68 for a total of 208 total.

Course Turns Back Par
The course turned back to its normal 72 and put the brakes on scoring for all but a few of the master shotmakers. Turnesa applied all skill to the fairways and most of his errors were made on the greens. He got away to a miserable start but coming home, Mike found conditions a bit more favorable.

Hogan, who established a course record of 62 yesterday, started his first round three shots behind Turnesa then passed Mike on the first nine by scoring a three under par 33.

Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y., the 1941 champion, and Ferrier, the former Australian player, both registered a 68 for the lowest score of the third round.

Captain Robert T. Jones, one-time emperor of the fairways, posted a 37-35-72, even par, a highly satisfactory performance to the famed Georgian.

Honors in the amateur group remained tied between Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis., and William Dear of West Orange, N. J., each with a 214.

NIGHT baseball in Sedalia seems to be "washed out"—at least for a week or two more—providing teams can be scheduled here for July on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The Merchants hardly got started under the lights until "Old Man Weather" began to open his eyes to cry over the games lost under the brilliant lights, resulting in a damp season for night baseball in Sedalia.

Manager Palmer Nichols in discussing the prospects Saturday said it is possible the team would resume night baseball next month. However, it will be necessary for far better weather than we have been having to hold these games. The cost of maintenance of the equipment is such the Liberty Park board cannot afford to have the lights hooked up unless games are played, and it is necessary for better weather to play the games.

Sedalia's team this season has been undergoing that well known jinx session. They have a good team, but bad luck seems to have overtaken them—But this should be expected due to the outstanding record the team had for the past three or four years.

THREE dashing Dodgers are hotfooting it for the 1000-run circle of National League select society. They'll all make it by midsummer if they keep their health and jobs. The Waner Bros., Mel Ott and Dick Bartell today are the only active players who have crossed National League home plates with tallies to that extent, but they'll be joined ere long by Arky Vaughan, Joe Medwick and Bill Herman.

Starting the season Arky needed 64, Joe 46 and Billy 48. By June 8 the score stood Herman 981, Vaughan 797, and Medwick 975. They're all 3 lined up with their league's hottest rummaging outfit, which to date is leading the second-high scoring club, the St. Louis Cardinals by almost an even 50 tallies.

If experience counts, Chuck Klein is just the man to stand in the coach's box and tell the Phil baserunners what to do next. The former National League home run king, now Uncle John Lobert's right-hand man in the coaching department of the Phils, holds the 20th century National League record for runs scored in one season, his 158 in 1930.

"Sliding Billy" Hamilton, of the 1894 Phils, holds the all-time major league record, 196, but since 1900 no player in any season of senior circuit competition has crossed the dish as often as Chuck did for the '30 Phils.

THERE may come a new knockout king in the National League this year. Mort Cooper, St. Louis Cardinal ace, was the first man to chalk up his 50th, just a couple steps ahead of John Sam Vander Meer, last year's monarch of the parent loop in whiffing them.

Mort's top year in the majors to date was 1939 when he had 130, but at Houston the year before he tallied 201 in the Texas League before reporting to the Birds in September. That's only one short of the 202 by which the Cincy Reds' Double-No-Hit Vandy led the National last season.

Merchants To Play Lebanon

The Sedalia Merchants today will motor to Lebanon where they will play the Merchants of that place this afternoon. It is the first game of the season between these two rival ball clubs. Lebanon's night game was rained out two weeks ago, which was scheduled for Liberty Park.

In 1941 Lebanon defeated Sedalia 5 to 2 on their home diamond but dropped a one-sided game to the Sedalians under the lights later in the season.

Johnny Thomas will start on the mound today for Sedalia. Other players making the trip are Hume, Livengood, Ellsworth, Barnes, Small, Light, Shirley, and Zey with Manager Nichols, and Eschbacher.

Campaign To Prevent July 4 Accidents

Highway Officials Warn Against Careless Driving

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 20.—The Missouri State Highway Department today joined safety organizations in launching a nationwide campaign against Fourth of July traffic holiday accidents and waste of manpower, material and time needed for victory, Carl W. Brown, chief engineer, said.

Although automobile fatalities and accidents have been reduced as much as fifty per cent due largely to slower speeds and reduced traffic, this Fourth of July is different from the one last year when we merely celebrated our independence. In 1942 we are fighting to preserve it, and it would be not only ironic but unpatriotic to celebrate by causing accidents that waste human and material resources essential to the victory that will insure our freedom, safety officials say.

Nationwide Campaign
Citizens throughout the country are being asked to enlist in the campaign in a united effort to prevent accidents that last year took 9,600 lives in July alone.

Eighty-five of these July fatalities were on Missouri trunkline highways in 621 crashes, Brown said.

Practical suggestions made to keep the traffic toll down are that everyone reduce driving speeds and spend this Fourth of July close to home. This not only will help prevent accidents, but will conserve automobiles, rubber and gasoline.

To gain the victory that will insure future celebrations of Independence Day, America needs every scrap of manpower and every scrap of vital war material she can muster into service, the National Safety Council declares.

This year, of all years, the nation cannot afford the huge toll of life and property that Fourth of July accidents invariably bring.

New Talk of Buying Tires Now On Cars

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(P)—New talk of buying up tires from owners of "non-essential" automobiles was heard in the Capital Friday, while officials sought to step up the nationwide scrap rubber drive with week end "treasure hunts."

Wendell Lund, director of WPB's Labor Production Division, told a special House committee studying means of getting workers to war plants:

"Tires on non-essential private automobiles must be purchased by the government and allocated to war workers who are cooperating fully in carrying loads of workers."

The petroleum industry war council, which has charge of the scrap rubber collection, said it had "set Saturday and Sunday, when most Americans will be at home, for a nation-wide week end treasure hunt of every attic, cellar, bin and shed for unused and scrap particles of rubber."

Proclamation

To the People of Sedalia, Greetings:

Whereas, June 22, 1942, will be the first anniversary of the date on which the armed hordes of Nazism treacherously and by night poured across the borders of stolen territories into the land of the Russian people; and

Whereas, in the intervening year the Russian army and people have won the heartfelt admiration of the entire world by their bravery, fighting efficiency, and uncompromising sacrifice in defense of their freedom as a people and as a nation; and

Whereas, the magnificent war which our Russian allies have waged has been of such incalculable value to the cause in which we, too, are fighting that our own heroic General MacArthur has said that "the hopes of civilization rest on the worthy banners of the courageous Russian Army"; and

Whereas, We of the United States of America cannot in honor or in humanity do less than our utmost to aid these brave and invaluable allies and to mitigate their sufferings; and

Whereas, It is eminently appropriate that on the coming June 22 Americans should give public and material recognition to our obligations to the people of Russia;

Now, therefore, as Mayor of Sedalia, I do hereby proclaim and set aside Monday, June 22, 1942, as Aid-To-Russia Day and do call upon the citizens of Sedalia to give practical effect to this proclamation by giving with open hands for Russian war relief work, by adopting in meetings of their organizations resolutions of appreciation and friendship addressed to the Russian people, and by renewing in their hearts our national pledge to fight side by side with all of our allies until freedom and the rule of law and honor return once more to all the earth.

A. H. WILKS,
Mayor of Sedalia.

Local Missouri Pacific Shops Employees Buy Defense Bonds

The employees of the Sedalia Missouri Pacific shops have again completed a successful campaign in the sale of defense bonds, and proved their loyalty to their country as well as to the Missouri Pacific officials and their labor organizations.

The drive, just completed was for the purpose of encouraging employees to purchase U. S. War Bonds under the deduction plan sponsored by the railroad and labor organizations.

At a meeting held recently in St. Louis between railroad officials and general chairmen of the various labor organizations a committee was formed to work out a plan to make the sale of bonds 100 per cent over the entire railroad.

Many Bonds Purchased

As a result of this extensive campaign the Sedalia Shop employees came to the front with every employee purchasing bonds under the deduction plan and at the close of the drive the total sum of approximately $8,000 worth of bonds were purchased.

This amount in addition to the $35,000 worth purchased during the first drive in January made a total sum of $43,000 worth of bonds purchased by Sedalia employees which include the mechanical and store departments and the reclaim plant. Incidentally the Sedalia shop was the first shop on the system to make the goal of 100 per cent, and at the last report made had purchased the largest amount for any one shop.

Will Continue To Buy

In addition to the large sale of bonds, the Sedalia employees also have gone on record with a 100 per cent pledge to the United States government to purchase war bonds and stamps during the duration. A large number of employees are doing better than their pledge and are putting more than 10 per cent of their earnings in war bonds and stamps.

The local employees are indeed making a record to be proud of, and they are to be commended for their bit to help win this war.

Important News About War Damage Insurance

SINCE before Pearl Harbor, officials of Insurance Companies and of the Government have been hard at work in the joint preparation of a plan to protect both the national public interest and private interests against war damage without endangering the present fire insurance protection of millions of home and property owners.

Successful completion of the plan has just been announced by Mr. Jesse Jones, the basic points being:

Automatic Free Insurance Ends July 1st

Soon after Pearl Harbor, Congress passed legislation providing temporary automatic, free, war-damage protection for nearly all tangible property. By the legislation, such free protection terminates July 1, by which time a permanent self-supporting plan was to be worked out.

Joint Company-Government Plan

The new protection is to be provided by the Government-owned, billion dollar War Damage Corporation. The established Fire Insurance companies will act as Fiscal Agent for the War Damage Corporation, furnishing the organization and sharing in the risk through reinsurance. Recognized insurance agents, individually and through insurance brokers, will take applications, issue policies, collect and remit premiums, and otherwise service the business.

Coverage Provided

The War Damage Corporation "agrees to indemnify the insured against direct physical loss of or damage to the property described in the application which may result from enemy attack, including any action taken by the military, naval or air forces of the United States in resisting enemy attack." It is important to remember that damage by fire resulting from such an attack is war damage, not regular fire damage.

Risks Not Covered

(1) Policy does not cover burglary, robbery, theft, larceny, pilage or looting during blackout; (2) neglect or insured... after a loss; (3) confiscation, nationalization, expropriation, requisition, commandeering, capture, seizure, sequestration or detention; (4) use and occupancy, rents, consequential.

Property Not Covered

Policy contains the same exclusions as standard fire policy, unless specified in writing, on intangibles, art objects, dices, et cetera furs, jewelry and precious stones (except $1,000 limit), pleasure watercraft, standing timber.

Underwriting Rules

Written application and full prepayment of premium required. Insurance effective 3 days after receipt of application. No co-insurance on dwellings or farm properties, or their contents—all other properties, 50% co-insurance or higher. Pro rata distribution clause required on multiple locations covered by blanket form, unless 90% or 100% co-insurance clause attached. One year policies only, cancellable by Corporation only if policy issued in violation of rules or rates, by insured only for change in ownership or interest. Minimum premium, $3.00 per policy.

Premium Rates per $100 of Protection

(Based on 50% co-insurance except where otherwise indicated)
(a) Dwelling properties and contents, no co-insurance, 10 cents.
(b) Farm properties and contents, farm implements, automobiles and livestock, no co-insurance, 10 cents.
(c) Churches, hospitals, educational institutions, libraries, museums and public buildings, fire, resistive, 10 cents, all other, 15 cents.
(d) Apartments, hotels, offices, mercantiles, warehouses, and non-manufacturing buildings, fire resistive, 15 cents, all others, 20 cents.
(e) Manufacturing plants, piers, wharves, bridges and all other structures, fire resistive, 20 cents, all other, 30 cents.
(f) Street railway and railroad properties, 30 cents; rolling stock, 25 cents; trackage and road beds, 10 cents.
(g) Builders' risks take the rate applicable to the completed structure.
(h) Motor vehicles, except those under (a) and (b), and aircraft, 25 cents.
(i) Light, water, heat, power and communication systems, transmission lines, underground piping, wiring and conduits, 30 cents.
(k) Museums and commercial risks to a stated maximum limit of $100,000 each on (1) statuary, paintings, etchings, pictures and antiques (2) jewelry, (3) furs, (4) stamp and coin collections. Nondealers may cover items 1, 2, 3 and 4 in an amount not exceeding $10,000—subject to a limit of $5,000 on any one item. No co-insurance, 75 cents.

From the above rates deduct 30% for 80% co-insurance, 35% for 90% co-insurance, 40% for 100% co-insurance. This announcement is published for the information of all real or personal property owners. We are glad of the opportunity this plan gives us to preserve the strength of the home front. There is a staggering job to be done to provide this coverage by July 1. Make sure of your own protection and help us, by acting promptly. Call us for any help, information or protection.

As our contribution to the War Effort, we the following Sedalia Fire Insurance Underwriters are well equipped to serve your needs for permanent coverage on your house, apartment, store or factory. Rates through all source are uniform.

IT MIGHT HAPPEN AGAIN! HISTORY DOES REPEAT ITSELF...

... and the drastic coal shortage of 1918 due to lack of transportation facilities can easily be repeated again in 1942... unless coal users BUY COAL NOW!

The photographs reproduced here offer actual evidence of the effects of what a coal shortage could mean to you! Be warned....

BUY COAL NOW!

Every factor connected with the coal situation urges you to fill your coal bin to capacity now in order to avoid a coal shortage next winter. The railroads will be using all their freight cars for hauling war materials. War industries must be supplied coal ahead of consumers. Dealers are experiencing an increasing shortage of truck facilities and labor. BUY COAL NOW... TODAY!

Save Transportation For War Needs

CONSIDER THIS FACT:

If all the coal dealers in town started the burning season with their storage bins filled, and consumers bins empty, an ordinary cold spell would cause a coal famine in two weeks time. Coal MUST be moved into consumer's bins now in order that dealers can re-order more coal and keep coal users supplied.

Your Refrigerator

Why Scientific Refrigeration Is Necessary

There is "life" in every food. We know it as Mold, Yeast, and Bacteria. Some of these living organisms are harmful; some are not. For really safe preservation, food must be kept between 50° and 32°. Temperatures below 45° are required to retard the growth of bacteria.

All foods need CONSTANT cold—a temperature which does not vary—to retain all their vitamins and other food values.

If you have any problems, call our service Department. They'll be glad to help.

THINGS TO REMEMBER ABOUT USING YOUR REFRIGERATOR

- Forty degrees is the safest temperature for the main food compartment.
- Keep most food in covered containers. Cover uncooked meats as lightly as possible.
- Unwrap all foods except frozen foods before placing in refrigerator. Paper is an insulator and keeps the cold away from the food.
- Do not freeze meat or fruit in your refrigerator. Slow-freezing breaks down their cell-structure.
- Keep green peas and beans and all leafy vegetables in the refrigerator. They lose their Vitamin C if stored at room temperature, but retain it in the refrigerator.
- Different foods require different temperatures to protect them properly.

Rather Foggy Week On Stock Market

By BERNARD S. O'HARA

NEW YORK, June 20.—(AP)—The stock market today stepped out of a generally foggy week with trends still notably obscure.

While selling pressure, as in the past several sessions, was absent, the buying urge was lacking. Unsettled tendencies prevailed at the start. Gains running to a point or so were well distributed at the close although declines of as much were in the majority.

Brokers again blamed speculative and investment apathy mainly on somewhat bearish war developments. Many customers also lightened commitments or stood aside to await the outcome of the Roosevelt-Churchill conference. Tax doubts persisted as a market handicap.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .1 of a point at 25.5 but on the week was unchanged. Transfers totaled 127,000 shares compared with 108,740 a week ago. Bonds were spotty, commodities stiffened at the last. At Chicago wheat and corn were unchanged to up 1/4 of a cent a bushel, respectively, and hogs steady. Cotton was up 65 to 75 cents a bale.

Steadier Tone To Grain Market

By FRANKLIN MULLIN
CHICAGO, June 20.—(AP)—The grain market steadied today, recovering its equilibrium after yesterday's retreat.

Wheat was up about 1/4 cent at one time and off 1/4 to 1/2 later, closing unchanged to 1/4 higher compared with yesterday, July $1.19 3/4. September $1.21 3/4. Other grains followed the action of wheat, although oats fell as much as 1/4 cent at one time, due partly to hedging sales in connection with the new crop movement. July soybeans also were off about a cent.

Sedalia Chapter No. 57 O. E. S. will meet in regular session Tuesday evening June 23 at 8:00 o'clock. Visiting members welcome. Last meeting before vacation.

Letter On Salvage Rubber

Mayor A. H. Wilks has received a letter from Governor Forrest C. Donnell, referring to the collection of scrap rubber, which explains itself. The letter follows:

"June 18, 1942
"Mayor,
Sedalia, Mo.

"Dear Mr. Mayor:

"A telegram from William R. Boyd, Jr., chairman, petroleum industry, sent from Washington, D. C. and received this morning, informs me that an analysis of reports thus far received in the nation-wide scrap rubber drive ordered by President Roosevelt suggests that the per capita response from the farms and small towns of the nation is coming with much greater rapidity than it is from our large centers of population and that the farms and small towns appear to be challenging the cities to a contest.

"Mr. Boyd's telegram continues with the following language:

"May I respectfully urge you to point this out and to urge as forcefully as you can upon every inhabitant of every city in the country that now is the time for all good city folks without exception to come to the aid of their country."

"Accordingly, I inform you of the facts set forth in the first paragraph of this letter and respectfully urge that every inhabitant of your city promptly and fully co-operate in the drive.

"I shall be obliged if you will see that the foregoing is given as much publicity as possible.

"Thanking you for your co-operation, I am

"Very truly yours,

Forrest C. Donnell,

Governor."

Large Number New Income Tax Payers

Million And Half More Money Than In 1941

BY DON DOANE
JEFFERSON CITY, June 20.—There are 57,181 new state income tax payers in Missouri this year — which accounts for most of the $1,366,418 increase in individual income tax assessments.

Corporation income tax assessments also climbed $116,824 above last year's.

Those two advances added together indicate the total state income tax collected this year will exceed that of 1941 by about $1,500,000. That is just about what Auditor Forrest Smith and Budget Director Margaret Cobb predicted.

This year's total state income tax assessment already amounts to $8,190,159, with supplemental assessments yet to be made. These supplemental assessments average about $1,250,000 yearly.

Last year's total assessment, including supplementals, was only $7,806,993.

Large Gain
The 57,181 new income tax-payers brought the number of individual 1942 returns to 222,782. They reported a total net income of $322,186,701—a gain of $71,130,882 over 1941.

The 6,328 income tax paying corporations reported total net income of $98,424,253—up $7,419,321.

Individual incomes accounted for $6,293,954 of this year's total assessed tax. Corporations will contribute the other $1,896,204. The steady growth of Missourians' earning power in the last three years is shown by comparison with 1939 income tax figures. That year, only 115,948 individuals paid only $4,002,470 taxes. Since then the number of income tax paying individuals has grown 86 per cent and the amount they paid has increased over 50 per cent.

Coffee A Luxury
The war has made coffee a rare luxury for Missouri convicts. Although not on the ration list (yet) coffee's growing scarcity.

Work Progressing At Air Base

The Sedalia Air Base project, near Knobnoster, is rapidly taking form as an increasing number of men work day and night on the many important parts in the construction of a great air base. More than one thousand workers are now erecting buildings, grading the airfield and cantonment area, and putting in a water supply system and electrical distribution system.

Headquarters for the staffs of the area engineer and the architect engineer have been moved to the completed Post Headquarters building at the base. Persons having business with these staffs may obtain temporary admission passes at guard headquarters two miles south of Knobnoster on Route D.

July 1 Is Deadline

For Ceiling Price Reports

All retail merchants of Sedalia must have a list of their ceiling prices on file with the ration board of the council of defense, by July 1. Some have already been filed, but many are still to be reported.
